

Crystal Technology, Inc.

An EPCOS Company

Engineering Technician - Reference CRY#226

Crystal Technology, Inc. is seeking an Engineering Technician to join our process engineering team in wafer and optical, fabrication. You will be responsible for performing engineering tasks in sizing, shaping, lapping cleaning and inspection for product development and improvement with minimum supervision. In addition you will conduct root cause analysis for yield improvement and apply systematic approach to solving problems. You will write working instruction and perform training and coaching for MT and process leads, implement and monitor process controls to reduce variance, promote safety practice, working effectively among different functions and be able to be flexible on task and working schedule. Minimum education (or substitute experience) required; High school diploma, AA or advance training/classes is a preferable. Minimum experience required; 5 years direct fabrication experience in substrates or optics, or related fields. 2 years working experience as an Engineering Technician. Skills required; the ability to complete engineering task with minimum supervision, pay attention to details, able to do multitask and the read blue prints..

To apply for any of the above positions, go to: Monster.com under Company Name, enter Crystal Technology and under Locations, select California-Silicon Valley/San Jose.

EOE